

Subject: Applied Law	Term 2.1 (January - February)
-----------------------------	--------------------------------------

This term, we are studying...

Year	Topic(s)	Why this? Why now?
Year 12	How statutory rules are made and interpreted Legal skills Influences on Parliament The law-making procedure in Parliament How statutes are interpreted by the courts How legislation is made outside of Parliament Delegated legislation The European legislative process and its institutions	After your January exam we will be working on Unit 2. This is a coursework unit where you will develop the skills to investigate and research how different laws are made both inside and outside Parliament and then interpreted in courts. You will use these research skills to investigate the way in which the law is developed and applied.
Year 13	Marriage and civil partnership Cohabitation Legal rights and obligations of marriage/civil partnership and cohabitation Nullity Divorce and dissolution Judicial separation	After your January exam we will be working on Unit 4. This is a coursework unit which will enable you to understand the distinction between marriage and cohabitation and their legal consequences. You will examine the key requirements for the formation of a valid marriage and civil partnership and how these relationships may become either void or voidable. You will investigate how individuals may terminate their adult relationships and the financial consequences of a relationship breakdown.
